MEMORIAL BRIDGE IS NOW ASSURED

Appropriation For Preliminary Work Becomes a Law.

TO PREPARE PLANS.

Commission Named to Decide on Site And Approve Designs For Structure—$25,000 Appropriated.

The great memorial bridge across the Potomac, connecting Washington and Arlington and forming the approach to the Mt. Vernon Avenue, extending from the Capitol City to the home and tomb of the immortal Washington, was made a certainty yesterday by the passage of the public building bill which includes an appropriation of $25,000 to pay for plans and specifications for the new bridge.

The bill provides a commission to have charge of this work, composed of the President of the United States, the Presdent of the Senate and the Speaker of the House and the chairman of the Senate and House committees on public buildings and grounds..

The bill was among the very last signed by President Taft previous to his surrendering the reins of office to Woodrow Wilson. The provision for the bridge and other appropriations looking to the beautifying of Washington was all that saved the bill from being vetoed by the President. As is well known the memorial bridge is one of the things that President Taft has heartily advocated. Beofre signing the bill he said:

"There are in the bill items aggregating perhaps half a million dollars that ought not to be in it, authorizing the construction of public buildings in towns too small to justify them," said the President, "and on that ground, for the purpose of giving emphasis to my views on the subject, I should like to withhold my signature from the bill. But the bill contains authorizations for improvements so important in the development—and I may say, an unduly delayed development—of the City of Washington that I cannot bring myself to defeat such worthy projects.

Among the other items in the bill is the provision for the erection at Arlington of a memorial ampitheatre, including a chapel, under the direction of a commission composed of the Secretaries of the War and Navy, the Superintendent of the United States Capitol buildings and Grounds, Ivory G. Kimball of the G. A. R., and Charles W. Newton, of the United Spanish war veterans.An expenditure of $250,000 to start wor kis authorized, the ultimate cost to be $750,000.

The bill had a rough road in Congress. After it had been loaded down with a number of items by the Senate, of which the memorial bridge was one, it went back to the House for conference. The House conference committee refusced to consider new items and it looked as if the whole bill would fail.

A filibuster was started by Senator Lodge, who was determined to prevent the passage of the bill without provision for the requirement of the lower valley of Rock Creek at a cost of $2,300,000, and Senator Root, of New York, desired to save the provision for $3,000,000 for the purchase of a New York courthouse site. They made it plain that the public buildings bill would not pass unless at least these items were retained.

The operation of the filibuster came on the conference report on the agricultural bill. Usually the conference reports are adopted after the formal reading of the report, but the filibusters insisted that eac hamendment should be read, explained and voted upon separately. That would take hours and hours—and the consumption of time to the exclusion of other business is the essence of a filibuster in the Senate.

An ultimatum was issued to Senator Swanson, who had moved that the Senate recede on the Rock Creek Park and New York courthouse site question as well as on the District Armory and Red Cross building items—they being the four that were preventing a complete agreement upon the bill and its passage into law by Congress. Senator Swanson wanted the bill passed, because it started work on the memorial bridge across the Potomac river between Potomac Park and Arlington.

As the afternoon wore on and the tiresome filibuster proceeded, Senator Swanson relented.

"I am convinced, "he told the Senate, "that the bill will be expedited by having it go to conference again and I withdraw my motion to recede."

That cleared the skies; the filibuster was called off and the public buildings bill returned to conference.

Congressman Charles C. Carlin was greatly pleased at the passage of the bill with the appropriation for the plans and specification. In his opinion this mean that the building of the bridge is an absolute certainty. He regards the action of the last congress as an entering wedge.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

O. C. Felter, a workman of Mount Rainier, Md., fell eleven stories from the top of the Citizens National Bank buiding in Raleigh, N. C., yesterday, and fifteen minutes after the fall told the story of his dizzy drop. Felter sustained a fractured skull, caused by bricks falling upon him; two broken ribs, nad numerous minor injuries. He explained that at the top of the building somebody signaled the elevator from under him and he fell into the hole after it. Before the machinery struck the bottom he fell on it, but had gone the entire distance. Felter was taken to the hospital, after having lapsed into unconsciousness. He has little chance of recovery, physicians state.

From wounds received when he was attacked by a crwod of young men at a church meeting at Hagans, near Morgantown, W. Va., on February 8, Ira G. Cordray, aged 42, a well-to-do farmer of Hagans, died Monday night. On February 8 Cordray took his family to church in a sled. After the servces he missed several blankets from his sled. He found that a crowd of young men had taken the blankets to cover one of their number alleged to have been incapacitated by drink. When Cordray asked for the blankets the young men, it is alleged, beat him severely about the head and back. Blood poisoning developed from the wounds.

An 11-year sentence for theft of a 5-cent bottle of a soda-fountain drink was affirmed at Atlanta Monday by the Georgia Supreme Court against Ollie Taylor, 13 years old. The decision ends a three-year struggle by O. F. Taylor, father of the boy, to have the decision set aside. The lad pleaded guilty three years ago to stealing the bottle. He was only 10 years old then and was sentenced to the Fulton Industrial Farm until he was 21 years old. The Supreme Court made slight comment on the sentence, it being held that such a matter rested with the trial court. In this connection the decision read: "The slight value of the rticle stolen is matter to be given weight by the court imposing the sentence, but it does not nullify the sentence, once it is passed properly."

As a tribute to President Woodrow Wilson, the graves of his father and mother in a cemetery at Columbia, S. C., were covered with flowers yesterday by the Ladies' Church Society. Dr. Joseph Wilson, President Wilson's father, taught in a theological seminary here from 1870 to 1874. He died at Princeton and his body was brought here for burial. Mrs. Wilson's death preceded that of her husband several years.

The announcement that Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst would address a suffragist "at home" at Cambridge, England, yesterday, led the police to expect trouble from undergraduates of the university, but owing to the restraining influence exercised by the proctors and police the meeting was not disturbed. At Wolverhampton, however, where Miss Annie Kenny attempted to hold a meeting, there was broken up by the terrific din and the liberation of sulphuretted hydrogen. The police protected the suffragists, but did nothing to quell the uproar. The Standard says it has learned that the inner council of the militants has planned raids on Parliament and other outrages totally eclipsing previous exploits.

VIRGINIANS WIN GREAT APPLAUSE

ALEXANDRIANS IN LINE

Alexandria Light Infantry Has 44 Men In Procession—Governor Mann Receives Cheers.

Virginia's eighth distinguished son elected to the presidency of the United States gripped the scepter of power in Washington and 40,000 Virginians witnessed the transfer of the reins of government to him.

From the moment Woodrow Wilson started from the White House, accompanied by William Howard Taft, the citizen-to-be, until the capitol was reached, when he disappeared from view, the Staunchonian was given one continuous ovation from the thousands of Virginians who packed the stands and thronged the sidewalks.

On his return from the capitol to the White House, clothed in the ultimate of power and honor within the gift of the people of the nation he was acclaimed with even greater cheering, hand clapping and banner-waving.

Not for one moment was the giant crowd here allowed here to forget that Woodrow Wilson was a Virginian and that the people of his native state were here to show their pride to him and his glory.

Never in the history of the inauguration of presidents has Virginia emptied such a throng into Washington They carried banners and flags and undoubtedly formed the most enthusiastic part of the greatest mob that ever swelled into the tide of humanity in the nation's capitol.

Greatest Inauguration Crowd.

Official reports are to the effect that no inauguration crowd was ever bigger than that of yesterday. Virginia has done her part to add numbers and noise to the celebration incident to the induction of her native-born son into the White House for a residence of at least four years.

Headed by Governor William Hodges Mann, the Virginia military representatives, about 2,000 strong, formed a conspicuous and interesting part of the parade which President Wilson reviewed in front of the White House shortly after 4 oclock.

Governor Mann was accompanied by all of his gold laced and embroidered colonels and the highest officers of the Virginia militia. With the executive rode Brigadier-General Wm. Wilson Sale, adjutant-general of the Virginia voluteers; Colonel C. A. Dempsey, United States Army, retired; Colonels A. D. Hamilton, R. W. Arnold, D. S. Bell, J. B. Boyer, R. L. Brewer, jr., A. J. Gray, L. Gregory, E. A. Halsey, R. P. Neale, J. W. Holloway, J. D. Johnson, C. L. Kidd, T. B. McAdams, W. J. Nelms, W. W. Old, jr., W. H. Sergeant, jr., J. G. Seay, W. T. Shields, G. S. Zimmerman, F. H. Smith, R. C. Stokes, J. T. Templeton, R. D. White, C. W. Rogers and John Hutchison.

Alexandrians in Line.

Immediately following General Sale and his staff came the Virginia militia, 2,000 strong. The second regiment, the oldest in point of service came first and was folowed by the first regiment comanded by Colonel F. W. Perry. At the head of this division rode Major James E. King, of Alexandria, commanding the second battalion and Lieutenant Conrad Johnson, also of Alexandria, batallion quartermaster and acting adjutant.

The Monticello Guards of Charlottesville followed and immediately behind was the Alexandria Light Infantry, commanded by Captain Frank L. Slaymaker. The Light Infantry had 44 men in line and made a splendid appearance.

When the Richmond Light Infantry Blues batallion, one of the crack military companies of the country, came in sight they received more applause than any of the military companies. Arrayed in their white and blue uniforms and wearing their white plumed hats, they made a magnificient appearance.

Place of Honor for Cadets.

The Virginia Military Institute "boy soldiers" had a place of honor in the second division. They led the cadet organizations' section, commanded by Colonel H. W. Telgin, and were headed by the famous Stonewall Jackson Band of Stunton.

One peculiar fact connected with the participation of the corps of cadets of the Virginia Institute, of Lexington, Va., was that they carried the only correct flag of the Commonwealth of Virginia in existence.

Following the close of the civil war, when Governor Pierpoint assumed military control of the State under the reconstruction regime, the seal was perverted as originally shown on the flag. Governor Henry A. Wise made repeated efforts to have the seal restored but failed.

The last session of the Virginia legislature, through the efforts of Col. J. C. Wise, commandant of cadets of the V. M. I., and a grandson of former Governor Wise, authorized Governor Mann and the secretary of the Commonwealth to appoint a commission to restore the seal. This corrected seal of the State, with its familiar motto, "Sic Semper Tyrannis," on a background of cerulean blue, fringed with gold, was used yesterday by the corps.

The Virginia executive and his troops marched between the Maryland and New York, the state's place in the line being fixed by the order in which the thirteen original commonwealths ratified the constitution of the United States.

A feature of the inaugural pageant that attracted more than usual attention was the marching hosts of the North and South, who almost hand in hand followed the Stars and Stripes. These old soldiers received a warm welcome all down the line.

Waving of streamers and flags and cheers greeted the boys of fifty years ago, some of whom marched down Pennsylvania avenue in review before President Johnson shortly after the surrender at Appomattox. These Northern and Southern veterans are members of the Grand Army of the Republic posts and Confederate camps of Washington.

EPISCOPAL THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY.

The catalogue of the officers, students and alumni of the Theological Seminary of the Protestant Episcopal Church of Virginia for the year 1912-1913 has been received.

The Theological Seminary in Virginia has a venerable and honored history. The conception of such an institution dates back to a resolution of the Council of the Diocese of Virginia in 1815, and the Education Society of Virginia was organized in 1818. A Theological Class was founded at the College of William and Mary in 1821, which was transferred to Alexandria in 1823. In 1827, after the erection of the first building, the Seminary was removed to its present location, on the third range of hills, two and one half miles west of Alexandria, 250 feet above the waters of the Potomac, and six miles in a direct line from Washington, overlooking both cities, the river, and the Maryland Hils. It is also within a few miles of the historic seats of Arlington and Mount Vernon. In February 1854, a charter was granted by the Legislature of Virginia, which was enlarged in 1884, so as to permit the Board of Trustees to acquire and hold additional property.

MUNICIPAL SLAUGHTER HOME.

Officials of the Alexandria Health Department are much interested in the establishment of a municipal slaughter house in this city, organized and conducted in accordance with a co-operative plan, in which meat dealers will benefit greatly. All slaughtering of cattle, calves and chickens including the making of sausage would be under the inspection of the city Board of Health, the establishment operated under the most modern plan and under approved sanitary conditions.

LATTER SOON SINKS.

Eleven German Torpedo Boats Have Been Sunk in Accidents During the Past Eighteen Years.

Hamburg, March 5.—Fifty-eight men were reported drowned early today. When the German cruiser Yorck rammed and cut in two the torpedo boat S. 178.

The vessels collided during a series of night manoeuvers three miles north of Heligoland. The torpedo boat sank immediately and only 15 of her crew of 85 officers and men were picked up.

Berlin, March 5.—The minister of the navy today officially confirmed the sinking off Heligoland, of the torpedo boat S. 178 by the cruiser Yorck, but no official statement of the number drowned was made. The S. 178 carried 85 officers and men and reports from Hamburg said that 58 men were lost while only 15 survivors were accounted for.

Eleven torpedo boats of the German Navy have been sunk in accidents since 1895.

BATTLE ON BORDER.

A Second Sharp Encounter Between United States Cavalry and Mexicans.

Douglas, Ariz., March 5.—A second skirmish occurred yesterday between the Ninth Cavalry troops and Mexican federal soldiers from Augua Prieta, across the international border, one and one half miles southeast of Douglas. Mexicans to the number of 50 fired on the border patrol at a distance of 250 yards.

In answer to a hurry call troops E and F and a machine gun platoon of the Ninth Cavalry were rushed to the place where the Mexicans had fired on the patrol squad. A rapid firer was put in immediate operation in addition to a hot rifle fire.

The Mexican returned the fire with spirit, but soon retreated to a line of trenches dug during the Madero revolution.

When they reached the trenches the firing ceased. Whether the Mexicans were killed or wounded is not known. Many of the American troopers were hit.

Colonel Gilfoyle took personal command of the troops at the scene of the fighting, which was a repetition of the battle of Sunday, when Mexican federals and United States troops fought for half an hour over the international line. The American soldiers were drawn up yesterday afternoon in a skirmish line awaiting further developments.

Each insisting that the troop of the other's command began the skirmish on Sunday, which was repeated yesterday morning between Mexican federal troops from the Auga Prietea garrison and soldiers of the Ninth Cavalry, Colonel Gilfoyle and General Ojeda stood firmly on their declarations tonight.

The American army officer said that his men will "shoot to kill" if the border patrol is interferred with. The Mexican general said that if he could be shown that his men did begin the firing he would execute any one guilty of beginning the trouble.

CLASSIC MOUNT VERNON

A Few People Yesterday Mussed at the Tomb of the Father of the Country

As may have been expected, the capital city was the drawing card yesterday, and the great mass of people living hereabouts availed themselves the opportunity of witnessing the scenes incident to the inauguration of Woodrow Wilson as President of the United States. A small percentage, however, whose sober wishes keep them in the cool sequestered vale of life, avoided the maddening crowd by making a quiet pilgrimage to Mount Vernon, and they stood with bared heads at the tomb of the great Virginian, musing over the great transitions through which the country has passed since George Washington paid the debt of nature.

The pilgrims were few and far between; hence there was no crowding or surging through the grounds or the mansion, and every one had ample time and opportunity to study the historic spot and to look upon the interior of the mansion as it was when the spirit of the proprietor returned to God who gave it.

While the blare of trumphets and brass bands was being heard in the capital city, and multitudes were surging to and fro and thousands of pageants were glittering, deer, in their innocency were frisking about in the park and squirrels, without fear of dogs or guns, were jumping here and there. The shimmering Potomac, so often gazed upon by Washington, rolled on as ever, and the balmy air was suggestive of spring and the return of the finny tribes from the deep sea to our shores.

The country between Alexandria and Mount Vernon is building up, a number of fine country homes have recently been constructed, while the surroundings of the estates have undergone many changes in recent years.

The fine and modern cafe operated by T. F. Ellis, is a feature justly appreciated by visitors at Mount Vernon. To eat dinner at this interesting place adds interests to the pilgrimage, the discussion of the menu in this, a rural retrat being a pleasant experience to all visitors.

They were brought before the Police Court this morning, but no evidence having been brought to show that they were gambling when surprised, Justice Caton liberated them.

RETURN OF THE VISITORS.

Electric Trains and Steamboats Run to Late Hour Last Night

By noon yesterday Alexandria was practically deserted, the bulk of the population having hied themselves to the capital city to witness the inaugural ceremonies.

Train followed train in rapid succession, each crowded to its fullest capacity, while the two steamboats which were being utilized for transportation purposes carried large crowds. It was midnight before all the Alexandrians had returned to their homes.

An interesting feature of the occasion was the fire works and illumination after dark, and many persons from this city were anxious to remain and witness this last scene in connection with the induction into office of the new President.

Notwithstanding the immense army of onlookers and the crowding incidents to such an occasion, so far as known, no Alexandrians were the victims of accidents.

The officials of the electric railway handled the great concourse of people who patronized the road in an admirable manner, and Superintendent Percy Clift was on the job early, exercising strict surveillance over the movements of the trains and seeing that all were made as comfortable as possible. The steamboats were also operated with promptness and care.

There were probably more people in Wshington yesterday than on any other day in its history. The floating population was immense. The steam trains were landing passengers in the capital city during the morning hours, and they were coming from all quarters of the compass. Three steamers arrived from Norfolk at an early hour. They carried large complements of passengers. It is generaily agreed that the pageant yesterday was the largest and most interesting of any heretofore attending an inauguraton of a President.

The weather was pleasant throughout.

Crilly-Talbert Case to be Tried by Circuit Court Tomorrow.

The Circuit Court of Alexandria will commence its March session tomorrow morning with Judge J. B. T. Thornton presiding. While the court was opened on Monday by Judge Barley no action was taken pending Judge Thornton's arrival. The first business to be taken up by the court after the reading of the docket tomorrow will be the trial of the suit of Eugene B. Talbert against Jeremiah H. Crilly for $5,000 damages. The suit is based on injuries received by Talbert from having been knocked down by one of the defendant's wagons several months ago. Talbert claims that while riding on a bicycle near the intersection of King and Royal streets he was run down by Crilly's wagon.

A called communication of Alexandria-Washington lodge, No. 22, A. F. & A. M., will be held at their temple on Wednesday evening, March 5, 1913, at 7:30 p. m., for work.

The Imperial Royal Austrian Lace Industries

Located in the Austrian Empire, and under the direct supervision of the Austrian Government where the art of lace making is an old one among the peasantry, and one of which they might well boast. Unail its control by the government unscrupulous dealers would impose upon the peasantry by giving in exchange for handmade laces of extreme value articles of little worth, such as cooking utensils and similar household needs and farming implements. To correct these and other evils that entailed hardships upon the peasantry, the Imperial Government was compelled to incorporate the lace industries within its own sphere and under the department of Schools of Commerce. And so it remains today.

The development of the institution has led to the establishment of hundreds of school centers throughout the various principalities, with a normal school at Vienna.

NEWS OF THE OLD DOMINION.

PAYLOR REACHES DANVILLE.

Alleged Embezzler, Caught in Buenos Ayres, Brought Back for Trial.

Danville, Va., March 5.—S. Douglas former city trasurer, who is charged with the embezzlement of $9,600 of funds belonging to the State of Virginia, reached here at 2:15 Monday morning in charge of William P. Wilson, special officer of the state. Paylor was arrested in Buenos Ayres, Argentine Republic, some time ago, where he was located in a search instituted for him fter his alleged shortage became known.

When his wife who still resides here, learned yesterday that the officer with her husband had landed in New oYrk and was epected to reach here with his prisoner on No. 29 last night, she boarded No. 36 and went to Lynchburg where she met the returning pair and accompanied her husband here. On arrival of the train in Danville Deputy Sergeant Boisseau took the prisoner in charge and hurried him to the jail, where he will await trial.

MINISTER ELOPES.

Rev. Joseph Owens Disappears With Mrs. James Blankenbecler.

Bristol, Va., March 5.—With the domestic peace and happiness of one minister gone because another minister eloped with his wife, with a whole community indignant because the elopers carried away $200 or $300 of the church building funds, there is more than the ordinary tone of neighborhood gossip in the community of Stigall's Cross Roads, in Washington county, Va., just now.

Recently the Rev. Joseph Owens, hailing from the mountains of North Carolina, came over into the Old Dominion and finding the wife of another minister upon whom he felt that it was good to look, at once set to work to raise funds for the construction of a Baptist Church in the community.

Meanwhie he got busy with attentions to the wife of the Rev. James Blankenbecler, living in the community. It seems that he convinced Mrs. Blankenbecler, notwithstanding he had a wife and children of his own, that he and she were soul mates and ought to flee together.

The woman agreed to this proposal, but neither had sufficient money to make the venture. The Rev. Owens hustled about and sold at a big discount a number of the notes that had been given for the church fund, and with the money in pocket he drove with Mrs. Blankeubecler to Meadowview, Va., where they boarded a Norfolk and Western train for points in the south. They came this way, and just now nobody in the community whence they fled seems to know of their whereabouts. Owens claims to be a Baptist minister. Blankenbecler disconsolate over the affair, is seeking a divorce.

He is then said to have visited the clothing store of Robinson, Graves and Pettyjohn, where in exchange for the check he received a new suit of clothes and $5. When it was discovered that the check was unauthorized the police were notified and it was then ascertained that the stranger proposed leaving on train 29 from the new depot. WIFE MURDERER SENTENCED.

Nelson V. Carter to Die in Electric Chair April 25 .

Fredericksburg, Va., March 5.—The case of Nelson V. Carter, charged with the murder of his wife, Mrs. Hattie Carter, at their home in Spotsylvania county, on February 6, came to a close at a late hour Monday night in the Circuit Court for Spotsylvania county. The jury found Carter guilty of murder in the first degree.

The case was stubbornly fought. There were a number of witnsesses on both sides. The plea of the defense was homicidal insanity and Dr. DeJarnette, of the Western State Hospital; Dr. Glassock, of Washington, and Dr. Barney, of this city, were summoned to give expert testimony on the subject of insanity after examining the prisoner.

After argument the case was given to the jury, which finally brought in the verdict. Judge R. H. L. Chichester fixed Friday, April 25, as the time for the electrocution in the State penitentiary.

TWO WOMEN INJURED.

Horse Drawing Funeral Carriage Runs Away in Petersburg.

Petersburg, Va., March 5.—Two women were injured and a horse killed when a team drawing a funeral carriage ran away late Monday. The horses ran down Sycamore street until the team collided with a coal cart. One of the animals struck one of the cart shafts which pierced its breast and lungs, nad caused it to bleed to death. The other horses were thrown to the street. Mrs. Kate Bullock Curtice wrenched an ankle and a Miss Edwards, of Blankford, sustained an ugly cut on the face when they jumped from the carriage, before the collision. Another Miss Edwards also jumped but escaped injury.

NEGRO SUFFRAGETTES.

Colored Women Organize Clubs in Richmond.

Richmond, Va., March 5.—That there are negro suffragette clubs has become known, but just how many clubs have been organzed is not known. The fact that the colored female voters had organized has been guarded. It is reported that the cook in the palatial home of one of the anti-suffragettes is the head of one of the divisions of the sisters in black, and that she was aided informing the organization by some one who was freindly to the white organizations. Just why the formation of the clubs has been kept in the background no one cares to say. There is just a suspicion tha tat the "psychological moment" the clubs were to be marshalled and made to appear in public when their appearance would do most good.

OUTLOOK BETTER.

State Board of Health Issue Official Statement of Reported Typhoid Outbreak.

Richmond, Va., March 5.—Following the publication throughout the State of alarming reports regarding an epidemic of typhoid fever at Front Royal, inquiry at the State Board of Health this morning led to the publication of an official statement, in which is the cheerful assurance that the worst is over and that the valley town will soon be in normal shape again."

The bulletin of the Board reads: "Our first intimation of typhoid fever in Front Royal was the receipt of a letter asking for an examination of water, in which letter there was a statement that there were seven or eight cases of fever in that town. The Board immediately dispatched to Front Royal its sanitary engineer with the State's emergency water disinfection plant. The engineer reached the town the same day and upon receipt of his report, the inspector of the Board of Health was also sent to Front Royal. These two officers remained in charge until immediate danger was past.

"The report of the engineer makes it plain that the outbreak was due to the pollution of the water supply, most probably by contamination of the water shed. While the extent of the outbreak has been much exaggerated, the danger was very great for a few days and all those who contracted fever were exposed practically at the same time. The town authorities of Front Royal and of Riverton have co-operated most heartily and have done all in their power to relieve conditions. The Board believes that the danger is past, if proper precautions are taken for the future.

"A most distressing feature of the situation is the fact that the water supply of the town was thoroughly inspected by the Board in 1911 and a detailed report on it was filed with the town anuthorities. In this the Board stated that the water shed of the town was not properly protected and might easily cause an outbreak of typhoid fever. Since that time the danger has increased and within the last few months,we are informed, a number of workmen were employed in improving a road along the water shed.

"The specimen of water sent from Front Royal did not show the presence of typhoid bacilli, but this was of no significance as the germs are very rarely found in small quantities of water,even in the most sever outbreaks. The specimen, did, however, show very serious pollution.

"The Board regrets extremely that this epidemic should have occurred where warning of danger had been given and proper precautions had not been taken. But the people of the State should understand that since the appearance of the first cases, the town authorities have done their utmost. Danger is now past for the present and the town will soon be restored to its usual good health, if the suggested precautions are carried into effect.

"What has hapnened in Front Royal may happen in any one of numerous Virginia towns where the water supply is' exposed to a contamination which may cost the lives of scores in a widespread outbreak."

PRESIDENT WILSON'S INAUGURAL ADDRESS.

The inaugural address of President Woodrow Wilson at the east front of the Capitol yesterday was listened to by the largest concourse of people ever gathered on any similar occasion in the history of the nation. People from every section of the country gathered beneath the shadow of the Goddess of Liberty and listened with close attention to the carefully prepared words of the newly elected President who voiced the great principles of the platform of a party, long in the minority but in the right, upon which the banners of victory are now floating.

The address throughout abounded in practical suggestions, concerning the program of the new administration. No sectional issues were threshed out,but the simple task of governing the entire country for the good of the greatest number was the purpose of the executive.

Mr. Wilson referred to the prodigality of the more fortunate in this country whose conduct too often savors of abuse of the blessings of heaven, and to the hard lines of those who toil and spin, and who are the real motive power of our great republic.

He waved na flaming sword at the former class nor made rash promises to the patient and toof often unappreciated toilers of the world. He used his words advisedly, and manifested his purpose to labor towards bringing about more satisfactory conditions to all, and bring smiles of contentment to the homes of the rich and the poor alike.

Mr. Wilson's real suggestions can be printed in a small space. They are, however, to the point:

"We have itemized with some degree of particularity the things that ought to be altered and here are some of the chief items: A tariff which cuts off from our proper part in the commerce of the world, violates the just principles of taxation, and makes the government a facile instrument in the hands of private interests; a banking and currency system based upon the necessity of the government to sell its bonds fifty years ago and perfectly adapted to constraining cash and restricting credits; an industrial system which, take it on all sides, financial as well as administrative, holds capital in leading strings,restrict the liberties and limits the opportunities of labor, and exploits without renewing or conserving the natural resources of the country; a body of agricultural activities never yet given the efficiency of great business undertakings or served as it should be through the instrumentality of science taken directly to the farm, or afforded the facilities of credit best suited to its practical needs; watercourses undeveloped, waste places unreclaimed, forests untended, fast disappearing without plan or prospect of renewal, unregarded waste heaps at every mine. We have studied as perhaps no other nation has the most effective means of production, but we have not studied cost of economy as we should either as organizers of industry, as statesmen or as individuals."

NEW CUSTOMS DISTRICTS.

Maryland District to Include Washington And Alexandria.

Unless Congress interfere the organization of the Custom Service will be revolutionized, beginning July 1.

As one of his last acts President Taft sent a message to Congress announcing the redistricting of the service. The existing 165 districts will be reduced to 49, formed largely along States lines, and 116collectors of customs will be abolished.

Several ports of entry and a number of subports will be abandoned.

Congress has stipulated that the new plan must reduce the cost of the customs service to $10,150,000 or a saving of $700,000 as compared with the current fiscal year. Some Treasury officials claim that the plan adopted by the President will not meet that condition.

Under the reorganization each customs district will have a collector of customs. All ports, even the headquarters of collectors, will be directly in charge of a deputy collector. The terms ports of delivery and subports of entry will be abolished, and all subports which will be retained will be made ports of entry.

The new plan terminates the historic privilege given collectors at certain ports, especially along the Canadian border, to sell manifests and receive other emoluments, the proceeds from which in many instances far exceed their salaries. Collectors will receive only salaries.

The names of the new Eastern districts and the ports of entry continued or created are as follows, the first port mentioned in each instance being the headquarters of the collector:

Maryland (including the District of Columbia and Alexandria county, Virginia)—Baltimore, Washington, D C., Crisfield, Annapolis and Alexandria.

KERN CHOSEN CHAIRMAN.

Republicans Come Together And Organize Minortiy Force.

Washington, March 5. — Senator Kern,, of Indiana, Bryan's running mate four years ago, was today chosen as chairman of the Democratic caucus in the Senate, and was authorized to choose eight members beside himself, for the steering committee, which selects the regular committee of the upper House. The committee will meet tomorrow at 11 o'clock to ratify his selections.

While the seniority rule was not formally discussed, it was arranged that the new steering committee should tomorrow submit recommendations upon the subject, as indicating the policy which it will pursue in making up the committees for caucus endorsement.

"This honor is not one to be sought or declined," said Senator Kern in thanking the majority party for the leadership. "I shall try to be a follower of the enlightened and united sentiment of the 49 Democratic senators."

The secretaryship of the caucus went to Senator Saulsbury, of Delaware, and the vice-chairmanship to Senator Newlands, of Nevada.

Senate Republicans marshalled their forces today, elected their leaders, and prepared a reorganization scheme under which they will operate as a minority force in the new senate. Senator Gallinger, of New Hampshire, was chosen floor leader and chairman of the caucus. Senator Kenyon, representing the Progressive element, was selected secretary of the caucus.

HEALTH CATECHISM.

New Edition Ordered Will be Able To Meet The Large Demand.

Richmond, Va., March 5.—The new edition of the Health Catechism, recently issued by the State Board of Health, is now in press, and, when received, will be ample to meet the numerous demands for this publication. The first edition of 40,000 copies was soon exhausted owing to the celebration of the Health Day during the month of February in more than 900 schools of the Commonwealth.

Give Baby Poison.

New York, March 5.—Robbers tortured Mrs. Harry Jacobs, wife of a postal clerk of New York, by binding and gaging her last night and in the presence offering her 16-month-old baby a slice of bread spread with poison because she would not reveal where she kept her money, according to the story she told the police.

After binding the mother and tieing the baby in its high chair, Mrs. Jacobs said, the three men took a bottle marked "poison" from a closet where drugs were kept and poured the contents on a bit of bread. The mother was told she would see the baby die unless she gave the information wanted.

"Nod your head if you will tell us," one of the trio said to Mrs. Jacobs as he held the bread out to the child. The baby knocked it to the floor. They repeated the offer, and the baby again refused the poison.

Abandoning this effort, the men searched the apartments. A pocketbook containing $23 was stolen and the thieves left the household before Mrs. Jacobs could release herself and give the alarm.

Gone to Identify Man.

Bltimore, March 5.—Patrolman Farrel, of the Southwestern district, left yesterday morning for Colonial Beach, Va., where he will make an effort to identify a colored man who is being held there as John Lancaster wanted here on charge of killnig his father-in-law. The murder was committed in the southwestern section of the city on September 17, 1908. Benjamin Green, colored, was the murdered man. Lancaster was charged with the murder and has been sought by the local Police Department ever since.

Start Campaign.

Baltimore suffragists yesterday initiated a campaign which is designed to become nation-wide and which will be participated in by the champions of the votes for women movement everywhere, for the removal from office of Major Sylvester, head of the Washington police force. It comes as a result of the alleged insults suffragist parade Monday, and what the suffragists regard as thedesecration of the Maryland flag which took place during the stormy progress of the paraders down Pennsylvania Avenue. The thousands of women who participated in the affair are extremely indignant at what they term the gross neglect and the insulting attitude of the entire police force of the capital.

Returning to Work.

Patterson, N. J., March 5.—A number of weavers in the mills of the Johnson-Cowdin Co., returned to work today. They had quit in sympathy with their fellow unionists in the other mills, who were demanding the abolition of the four loom plan which was not in effect in the Johnson-Cowdin mills.

This was the only change in the strike situation and was considered unimportant. Many of the ribbon plants where there are no grievances were forced to shut down today because of the strike of the dyers which affect them through the shutting off of the materials.

The strikers today formally presented their demands to the bosses. The dyers asked for $12 per week minimum wage and an eight-hour shift. The weavers requested the abolition of the three and four loom system and readjustment of wages according to the two-loom basis. Representatives of all of the employes met the strike committee and took up the discussion of the demands. There was hope that some manner of settlement might be suggested during the discussion.

If the strike is not speedily settled the officials of the union declare they will call a general strike. William D. Haywood, head of the I. W. W., and Arturo Giovannitti are expected to address the strikers at meetings tonight and at that time it is likely the question of the general strike will take definite form. There was no disorder today.

A New Kind of Roofing

Asphalt Gravel That Will Last Ten Years—Can be Used Anywhere.

Cumberland, Md.—Among the many improvements at the new Y. M. C. building is the asphalt gravel roof (Security brand) that was put on under direction of Mr. Adam May.

A fairy tale is told about this roofing by Mr. A. M. Strickland, of Elkton, Md. About fifteen years ago he built the Elkton Foundry and covered the roof with Security Asphalt Gravel roofing and four years afterward the building and contents were consumed by fire. Nothing was left but the walls and roofing.

Being of an economical turn of mind he ordered the carpenters to cut down the roofing in strips, losing only the laps.

He used these strips of roofing on the new foundry building and it is in good condition today after ten years of active service.

It would be difficult to believe such a tale, because tin, iron and slate or any other composition roofing would have gone to smash or curled up and blown away in such a conflagration.

There is reason to believe that this true, because it stood the test in a similar fire in the B. & O. hay shed at Mt. Clare Station, Baltimore, some years ago.

This roofing can be purchased of

If you are a sufferer from Glandular Tuberculosis, or know of anyone so afflicted, it might be well to investigate this case, where the writer declares after a year of suffering, he found permanent relief and full recovery to health by using Eckman's Alterative, a medicine which has been effective in many cases of Tuberculosis:—

257 Laruston St., Phila., Pa.

"Gentlemen:—In March, 1909, I was taken sick and my doctor pronounced my case 'Tuberculosis in the Glands.' Medical treatment did not help me, and on my doctor's advice, I went to a hospital to be operated upon, but relief was only temporary. I lost strength, and at times would have cold sweats and fever. In April, 1910, I returned to the hospital, but the continued operations were not benefiting me.

"In the meantime, a friend of mine advised Eckman's Alterative, saying it was good for Tuberculosis. The wounds in my neck were still open and in a frightful condition when I started to take it. After using two bottles, I found I was improving, having gained weight, could eat, and was able to sleep. I continued using it until I was well, which was in November, 1910. Before I took the medicine, I had three hemorrhages; since I have been taking it, I have not had any. On November 11, 1910, I started to work, and since that time I have not lost one day's work through sickness. I can highly recommend Eckman's Alterative to anyone who is suffering from Tuberculosis or Gland Trouble, providing they take it as directed. I will gladly correspond with any party desiring further information of what the medicine did for me."

(Sworn affidavit) JOSEPH B. WHITE.

Eckman's Alterative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever; Throat and Lung Troubles, and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. MUSTEROLE

No Plaster! No Blister!

Everybody knows how the good old fashioned mustard plaster relieves a cold, an ache or a pain.

Your mother and your grandmother always applied it. The plaster burned awfully. But it surely brought relief.

MUSTEROLE is the same remedy without the plaster and without the blister.

MUSTEROLE is a clean, white ointment, made with the oil of mustard. You don't have to bother with a cloth. You simply rub Musterole on the spot where the pain is—rub it on briskly—and the pain is gone!

Not a blister is left, even on tender skin! Instead it has a delicious, comforting effect.

There is nothing like MUSTEROLE for Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Tonsilitis, Croup, Stiff, Neck, Asthma, Neuralgia, Headache, Congestion, Pleurisy, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Pains and Aches of the Back or Joints, Sprains, Sore Muscles, Bruises, Chilblains, Frosted Feet, Colds of the Chest (it prevents pneumonia). Millions of jars of MUSTEROLE are sold annually.

It is a staple in the large hospitals. Doctors and nurses use it and recommend it to patients. Ask your doctor.

At your druggist's, in 25c and 50c jars, and a special large hospital size for $2.50.

If your druggist cannot supply you, send 25c or 50c to the Musterole Company, Cleveland, O., and we will mail you a jar postpaid.

Doctors tell How Musterole Relieves.

Dr. J. P. Frey, Chicago, Ill., says: "I prescribe your Musterole every day. Use it in all cases of alveolar abscess and inflammation."

Salves Can't Cure Eczema

In regard to skin diseases, medical authorities are now agreed on this: Don't imprison the disease germs in your skin by the use of greasy salves, and thus encourage them to multiply. A true cure of all eczematous diseases can be brought about only by using the healing agents in the form of a liquid.

WASH THE GERMS OUT.

A simple wash: A compound of Oil of Wintergreen, Thymol, and other ingredients as combined in the D.D.D. Prescription. This penetrates to the disease germs and destroys them, then soothes and heals the skin as nothing else has ever done.

A 50 cent bottle will start the cure and give you instant relief.

We have made fast friends of more than one family by recommending this D.D.D. Prescription to a skin sufferer here and there, and we want you to try it now on our positive pay guarantee. D.D.D. Soap keeps the pores clean; ask us.

"My Guests Are Coming Tomorrow!"

When expecting guests, the housewife often finds it necessary to call upon the local dealers for quick service. A window-shade breaks, or a new rug is needed—perhaps the piano needs tuning—or something special in the way of food supplies may be wanted. It's handy to step to the telephone and order what is needed. Telephone orders always receive prompt attention.

PLEASES THE LITTLE ONES

Ingenious Toy to Be Constructed Out of Otherwise Useless Odds and Ends of Materials.

There are few among the little folks who do not take a great delight in "making things" and with some old corks, matches, pins and paper, a good deal of pleasant amusement may be derived.

In the accompanying sketch will be seen a little chauffeur constructed with the articles named, and which you will find quite easy to make. The body consists of a complete cork, and for it a well-shaped one should be selected. The head is made from a slice cut from a second cork and joined to the body with a short portion of a match, and the face can be

Diagram A shows the hat, which may be cut out in paper and fastened on to the top of the head with a drop of gum, and the peak afterwards bent downwards. For the arms, two whole matches are used, and they are secured to the body with tiny pins run through the ends and into the cork.

Diagram B illustrates this, and holes should be made for the pins with a fine needle before they are inserted, or the wood will split. The feet and legs are composed of two matches and two "slices" cut from a small cork.

When it is necessary to insert the ends of the matches into the cork, it will be found that they will go in easily if they have been cut into points, and to conclude with, the buttons on his coat can be indicated with the end of a burnt match, or small black-headed pins can be run into the cork, and in making the chauffeur, don't forget to employ used matches, not unused ones.

TO MEND KNIT UNDERWEAR

Crochet Needle, in Combination With Embroidery Frame, Will Be Found Most Effective.

A crochet needle is a good thing to mend knit underwear with. To do this, place the worn portion in an embroidery frame; then, with thread to suit the mesh of the garment, wool, silk or cotton, pick up the ends of the stitches where they are broken off and unite them, working back and forth until the holes are filled in evenly and smoothly. Perhaps the neck of the underwear has stretched in the washing until it is all out of shape; in that case run a drawstring around the neck, wet it and draw it into place, then when it is dry it will be the proper size. You may then crochet a neat beading in place of the one which has worn away; and if the buttonholes have worn out, rip off the old facing in the front and stitch on in its place a new strip of sateen. Sew the old holes together as closely as you can to their original size and shape, then catch them down to the sateen and cut that to fit; then work the holes as you would if it were a new one.

Fashion's Fancies

Every woman in Paris is wearing a corsage bouquet. Black velvet roses are among the smartest.

One phase of the Oriental tendency in this winter's fashions will show in the extensive use of red.

Some of the straight narrow skirts have tunics that break, and yet guard the straight slender lines.

The new furs are so light and supple that the wearer might imagine herself in a coat of feathers.

The new silhouette, while straight, is much softer in line because of the filmy draperies so much in vogue.

Some waists are made with plaited sections, not only on their fronts and backs, but also on their sleeves.

Favorite raincoats are on mainsook lines, some having the belted back and adjustable collar. Some recent models are only seven-eighths long.

Lace Insertion.

When lace insertion is set crosswise in a thin skirt the weight of the cloth below soon causes it to tear. This may be remedied by putting a piece of net a little wider than the insertion back of it. The net strengthens the insertion, but does not detract from its daintiness.

ALMOST EVERYTHING IN THIS

"Chop Suey" a Wonderful Mixture, Though If Properly Made It Is Palatable Dish.

The equivalent for "chop suey" in English is stew or hash—a mixture of various things. Hence there are as many kinds of this dish as cooks, almost. The superior sort is made of chicken, with mushrooms, bamboo shoots, etc.; the average, with sliced pork and celery, or celery, if the onion flavor is not liked, and the other ingredients indicated above. The Chinese way of cooking rice is to put a cupful or more of the washed grains into a dish that may be covered closely. Then an inch or two of cold water is poured in, the dish covered and put over the flames to boil. When the liquid bubbles up and oozes over the side of the dish it is quickly removed from the fire and set on the back of the stove to steam in its own heat. The Chinaman knows instinctively how much water is required to produce this first bubbling over. It must not be enough to cause the rice to turn over soggy. If rightly done—and the method is much simpler than it sounds, the cooking, steaming and drying of the rice are performed in one operation. The Chinese import almost everything that goes into chop suey, possibly even the chicken and pork in these cold storage days. At any rate their dried mushrooms come in huge tin cans, also their wee potatoes, bamboo shoots and all that. The "sauce," or brown mixture in the shaker, is their salt in liquid form.

HOUSEHOLD QUESTIONS

To smooth an iron, plunge it while hot into cold water with a little soap in it.

Use very little bluing in washing laces, for the lace absorbs a great deal of blue.

Use boiling water when it first boils or the gases escape and the water becomes flat.

Never try to clean yokes, collars or cuffs while sewed on the gown. Such things should always be made detachable.

When hanging pictures be sure to keep them on an agreeable level with the eye. Pictures are meant to be looked at.

Tanned shoes should always have a professional polish put on before wearing; then scratches will affect only the surface.

Using Salted Pickles.

After taking your salted cucumbers from the brine in which they have been kept, soak them well in clean cold water for two or three days, changing the water several times during the interval. If they have become soft in the brine it will make them more firm and brittle to soak them from the second day in alum water, using an ounce to a gallon of water. It is commonly used hot at first. Leave them till they become firm, then take out, rinse well, and put into good strong vinegar. Have it spiced and sweetened as desired, using Chili peppers, peppercorns, bay leaves, mustard seed, and any spice or aromatic ingredients preferred. They should stand for a few days or a week before using, to give time for the vinegar to be absorbed.

To Wash Colored Embroidery.

To wash pieces of colored embroidery so that there will be less danger of the colors running, put a tablespoonful of powdered alum in the water you use, and use only the purest white soap to make a light lather, but do not apply it direct to the silk. If the latter is of good make it will come out bright and clean, with no fading or injury whatever, but when the color runs or blurs in the ground material, the remedy mentioned will usually make the washing safe. A tablespoonful of salt is also good for setting most bright colors and in any case tends to brighten and clear the color and will do no harm to the fabric.

Cheese Pudding.

Take eight ounces of flour and mix with a teaspoonful of baking powder, two ounces of butter, and an ounce of grated cheese. Wet and make into a stiff paste and line a pudding basin with it. Fill with butter beans, previously boiled and removed from their skins, add a small onion chopped, the pulp of a tomato, one ounce of butter, cut into pieces, and seasoning to taste. Moisten with the water in which the beans were boiled. Cover and steam for two hours.

Tomato Beef.

Sprinkle small piece of beef cut from the remains of a roast with salt, pepper and flour; put a layer of meat in a baking dish, over it put a layer of sliced fresh tomatoes and a sprinkle of onion chopped very fine, scatter bits of butter over it, cover with a layer of beef, then tomato. Make the top layer of bread crumbs and bits of butter. Bake slowly for an hour.

Potato Scones.

One pound of cold potatoes, one ounce of butter, two tablespoonfuls of milk, one-quarter pound of flour, one saltspoonful of salt. Boil and mash the potatoes, add the milk and butter, add salt and work in the flour. Roll out thin, cut in rounds. Bake on a hot floured griddle. Cook about three minutes on each side.

Eggs a La Fayette.

TOKEN OF ADMIRATION

By JULIA CONWAY.

It had always been the rule in the Crompton family for the children to share and share alike, but when pretty Claribel, the eldest, received the day after her sixteenth birthday a beautiful basket of bonbons, a token of the admiration of a youth whom she had met while visiting in the summer, she inwardly rebelled at the prospect of seeing the delicious sweets melt away like the dew before the sun. For the young Cromptons always made remarkably short work of a box of candy.

"I speak first for that big piece of candied pineapple," said Alice as the children gathered around Claribel to see the delectable package opened.

"Can I have some o' them candied violets, Claribel?" asked small Joe.

"No, you can't." Claribel quickly raised the basket beyond the reach of Joe's none too clean hand. "You can't have any, because you said, 'them' instead of 'those.'"

"Well, I don't care if I did. You ate more'n half the taffy I bought with the nickel dad gave me for having my spelling paper right."

"And it was the first time he ever got a perfect mark," chimed Helen. "Why, Claribel, aren't you going to let us have any of the candy? You shut down the basket lid with a regular forever bang."

"Mayn't I have that pineapple to put in my lunch box?" asked Alice. "I guess if you had to take an old lunch to school every day the way I do, you'd—"

"No, Alice," returned Claribel with dignity. "I'm going to save this candy."

"Save it!" exclaimed all the children.

"What for?" demanded Carita. "You know I had the toothache yesterday and couldn't eat any of your birthday candy. I think I ought to have a lot of this."

"And get the toothache again," scornfully remarked Claribel. "If you weren't such a baby about going to the dentist you could have your teeth fixed."

"Well, what good would it do if you're always going to save your candy?"

"I'm not always going to save it," replied Claribel in a tone of martyred patience, "but this is a very special basket of candy and I think if I don't want it all gobbled up the first minute I've a right to keep it. My sorority is going to meet here a week from next Saturday and I want to show all the girls this beautiful basket just as it is. Then I'll pass it around and you can all have some."

"Yes, after the sorority girls have picked it all over," grumbled Alice.

"Some day you may wish to join my sorority, Alice."

Alice, being an aspirant for early election to her sister's sorority, looked somewhat chagrined and mentioned casually that it was time to be going to school. After the others were gone Claribel hastily looked about for a hiding place for her basket of candy. After a moment's desperate thought—for nothing was sacred in the house of Crompton—she flew into the library and secreted the candy with considerable satisfaction at her bright idea.

"Where on earth did you put your candy?" asked Helen the next day.

"Oh, were you looking for it?"

"No, of course not, but I didn't see it anywhere and I just wondered where it was."

"I suppose you all wondered." Claribel was smiling superior. "I just put it away."

Joe, coming in from play on the Saturday of the sorority meeting, forced his way into the library against the advice of his young sisters, who warned him that Claribel would be angry if he went into the meeting, which was always very secret.

"I don't care if it is a secret," declared Joe. "Claribel promised me some candied violets today and I want 'em."

"Joe, run right away," commanded Claribel as he entered the room. "You know you can't come to our meeting."

"I don't want to come to your meeting. All I want is the candy you said I could—"

"Oh, my basket of candy!" fairly shrieked Claribel. "It's all burned up."

"Why, how can it be?" asked Alice, who had rushed in, having been listening at the door. "Where was it?"

Claribel pointed at the fireplace. "I put it under the cedar boughs father brought in from the country to make the fireplace look pretty, and when the girls came today I thought how cheerful the fire would be and I lighted it and forgot all about the candy!"

All her sisters, sorority and real, gathered sympathetically about the weeping Claribel, but Joe said, "I guess now you're sorry you didn't give me them candied violets."

Strikers in Boston and New York.

Boston, Mass., March 5.—As the result of the frequent clashes between striking garment workers and their sympathizers and strike breakers, imported by the various factories, all of the city police that could be spared, were put on duty in the downtown district today. Orders were given that pickets must be kept moving and for the most part these orders were obeyed.

Seventeen girls and four men arrested, charged with resisting the police were arraigned in court today. Their arrests were marked by free-for-all fights between the police and the pickets. Many persons were hurt, but none seriously.

After the various factories had been opened for work most of the strike pickets withdrew to their headquarters but the police were retained on duty.

New York, March 5.—The first serious riot in the clothing strike since members of certain of the affiliated unions refused to recognize the agreement reached by President Rickert, of the United Garment Workers' and the Clothing Manufacturers' Association took place in the Williamsburg section of Brooklyn today. Headed by two 16-year-old girls a force of strikers descended on the factory of Samuel Peck and Company, at 8 and 10 Forest street and endeavord to get the workers there to join the strike.

The strike breakers employed here had been quartered in the factory for more than a month and there has been no bad blood between them and the union members.

As a result a general fight followed in which John Mitchell, 58, an employe of the Peck firm received a fractured skull and internal injuries. He was taken to the hospital in a serious condition. Two sisters, Rose and Elizabeth Scherer, strike-breakers, were slashed about the hands and face and required medical attention.

Police reserves charged the rioters and arrested Mamie Santorano and Annie Donofino charged with leading the attacking party an da half dozen others charged withrioting. The women fough tlike demons and were clubbed right and left by the police. Most of the windows in the factory were demolished during the fight.

Wants $50,000 Damages.

New York, March 5.—Mme. Maria Rappold, the singer, has started action for $50,000 damages through her attorney, F. G. Milligan, of Brooklyn, against the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. Mme. Rappold declared she was injured in a wreck near Philadelphia on February 17th. She is now in Berlin.

Forbidden to Speak.

Newark, N. J., March 5.—Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, the national organizer of the Industrial Workers' of the World, came here from Paterson last night to address the striking garment workers in the new union hall but was prevented from doing so by the police, acting under orders from Captain Oscar Vogel.

About 1,200 men, women and children had gathered to hear the little woman who has organized the striking mill hands at Patterson and was stopped by the authorities there. She is known to all working men of the country.

Miss Flynn was very indignant at the action of the police. "Your Captain," she said to the reporter of the United Press, "does not seem to know much about the Constitution of the United States permitting free speech."

THE TEST THAT TELLS.

Is The Test of Time. Many Alexandria People Have Made This Tet.

Years ago this Alexandria citizen told in a public statement the benefit derived from Doan's Kidney Pills.

The statement is now confirmed—the testimony complete. Instances like this are numerous. They doubly prove the merit of Doan's Kidney Pills. Can any Alexandria reader demand more convincing proof? It's Alexandria testimony—it may be investigated.

Mrs. Anine Scott, 110 Prince street, strong friend to Doan's Kidney Pills Alexandria, Va., says: "I am the same today, as I was in 1910 when I publicly told of the cure they had made for me. This cure has been lasting, but I occasionally use Doan's Kidney Pills as a preventive. I had pains in my back and I could not rest well. In the morning I always felt tired and worn out, and I also had dizzy spells. Doan's Kidney Pills did such good world that it is a pleasure to recommend them to other kidney sufferers."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's and take no other. 2.

THAW'S FIGHT.

Another Scandal About to be Brought To Light.

New York, March 5.—The fight of Harry K. Thaw, slayer of Stanford White, to escape Mattewan Asylum promises to bring to light another scandal which will be far-reaching in its ramifications. Already Thaw is at swords points with the new management of the Asylum. Up to the enforced resignation of Dr. Russell, as superintendent, Thaw practically ran the asylum. He came and went at will. His meals were sent in from the outside, and when he wanted anything he would strip a banknote from a roll of thousands that he carried and send out and get it.

This is changed. By direct orders from Governor Sulzer and Attorney General Carmody, Dr. Leak, acting superintendent of Mattewan, has ordered that Thaw be treated as any other insane prisoners. He is to be permitted to confer with visitors or lawyers only in the presence of an asylum attendant. In addition it was stated that Dr.Leak was questioning all of the asylum attendants in an effort to ascertain whether it was true that Thaw had been permitted to leave the institution secretly on a number of occasions and remain away for more than one night at a time.

Thaw through his attorney Charles Kennedy who has undertaken the new action to restore the millionaire murderer to freedom, today applied to Justice Giegerich for an order permitting him to see Thaw in private whenever he desired. He recited his experience of yesterday when he visited the asylum and was forced to discuss his plans in the presence of the principal keeper.

Fire at Children's Home.

Hastings-on-the-Hudson, N. Y., March 5—Three hundred and fifty children, the majority between five and seven years old, showed remarkable presence of mwhen fire threatened destruction of St. Christopher's Home near here today. The home is maintained by the Methodist church and all of the children were asleep when the head gardener, Petre Clinton, discovered fire in the laundry building. He notified Mrs. J. M. Connelly, wife of the home superintendent and sounded fire drill bells in the various dormitories.

The children formed in line, their clothing in their arms, and marched into the main room on the ground floor. All then dressed without showing the slightest sign of fear.

The fire caused a loss of $15,000.

Will Not Receive Personal Applications.

Washington, March 5.—The first announcement was made by Pres. Wilson today was that he would not receive personal application from office-seekers and that he would give no personal interviews on that matter, except those which he requested himself. He announced that his policy would be to require all job-hunters to make application through the department in which they wanted to be employed.

Mrs. Della Long Unable to Stand On Her Feet More Than a Few Minutes at a Time.

Pendergrass, Ga.—Mrs. Della Long of this place, in a recent letter, says: "For five or six years, I suffered agonies with womanly troubles.

Papal Appeals.

Rome, March 5.—The Vatican, in the role of defender of matrimonial ties, today formally appealed to the Tribunal of Segnature, in Rota Tribunal's decree annulling the marriage of Count Boni de Castellane and the former Anna Gould, who is now the Duchess de Sagan.

The tribunal of Segnatura is the Vatican's Supreme Court, while the Rota tribunal corresponds to the lower state courts. In the appeal of the Vatican, it is set u pthat a year ago the Rota tribunal declared the Castellane-Gould marriage valid while now it reverses itself without proper grounds.

Chinaman Fights Robbers.

New York, March 5.—Jow Chang is a pacid Washee-Washee type of Oriental without much fight in him but when two hold-up men went after his cash register in his Brooklyn chop suey restaurant early today the spirit of his honorable ancestors called him valiantly to battle. When the robbers ordered him to hold up his hands Chang obeyed with a whimper of fear, but as one of the men started for the cash register Chang's meekness vanished and with a sequel of rage he raised a carving knife and leaped to the defense of his exchequer.

Slashing right and left, Jow soon had one of the men on the floor bleeding like a slaughtered pig. The other, badly cut, ran into the street, but seeing a policeman coming raised his revolver to his temple and shot himself. He may die.

Jow was badly bruised in the fight but the policeman found him tenderly counting the money in the cash register. It was all there—$1.37.

"Gee" said the cop, "if it had been $2 he would have killed 'em both."

Will be Offered Diplomatic Post.

Washington, March 5.—President Wilson today announced that National Democratic Chairman William F. McCombs had been offered one of the big diplomatic posts, In a statement, the President said: "Those who know my administration and affection for Mr. William F. McCombs, will naturally wonder why his name is not on the cabinet list. Mr. McCombs told me that he did not desire a cabinet appointment. I have offered him one of the principal diplomatic posts and am still hoping that he will accept it. I desire men of cabinet size for the chief foreign appointments."

Heavy Traffic.

New York, March 5.—The trunk line railroads centering in this city which operate from Washington were swamped as the result of the general exodus from Washington last night. As a result ll trains were from half hour to nine hours behind time and the returning travelers were in decidedly bad humor when they disembarked here.
